by Robert Derrah and construction of a new 4-story, 45-foot tall, 13-unit condominium building. The loss of the existing building results in a significant, unavoidable cultural resources impact and requires the preparation of an EIR. To offset to the loss, the applicant is considering a public benefit package that includes deeding two affordable income units on site to the City and construction of a green building in compliance with city standards (the green building ordinance became effective after the project was determined complete for filing and therefore, is not required to comply with the green building ordinance). The project qualifies as a State Density Bonus project under State law and local ordinance. Based on the amount of affordable units being provided, the applicant is entitled to one development incentive or waiver from zoning code requirements. The applicant proposes a reduced rear yard setback from the code required 15 feet to 10 feet.
